

Lexicon Privacy Policy

Last updated: (April 8th, 2020)

MSPCSR ("us", "we", or "our") operates Lexicon (the "Extension"). This page informs you of our policies regarding the collection, use and disclosure of Personal Information we receive from users of the Extension.

We read the text that you write in your blog on Medium or on other websites. This data is needed to generate results for the tagging and recommendation system of the Extension. By using the Extension, you agree to the collection and use of information in accordance with this policy.

Information Collection And Use

The extension does not collect any personal information, such as name, location, IP address or any other personally identifiable information.

Log Data

Like many extension, we collect information that your browser sends whenever you visit our Site ("Log Data"). This information is not stored and is only used to generate results. The received information is discarded once the results are generated.

We may log messages such as error codes and status messages to track the health of our servers and the recommendation system. This Log Data does not include information such as your computer's Internet Protocol ("IP") address, browser type, browser version, time spent on the pages and other such statistics.

Security

The security of your blog's text is important to us, but remember that no method of transmission over the Internet, or method of electronic storage, is 100% secure. While we strive to use acceptable means to protect your blog text, we cannot guarantee its absolute security.

Changes To This Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy is effective as of (April 8th, 2020) and will remain in effect except with respect to any changes in its provisions in the future, which will be in effect immediately after being posted on this page.

We reserve the right to update or change our Privacy Policy at any time and you should check this Privacy Policy periodically. Your continued use of the Service after we post any modifications to the Privacy Policy on this page will constitute your acknowledgment of the modifications and your consent to abide and be bound by the modified Privacy Policy.
